ISN'T HE WORTH IT?

THIS message is written to you mothers—from your government.

It concerns the most precious thing in all the world to you—your child.

It asks you to help protect that child—from fear, from starvation, from death—the fate that has befallen millions of children under the rule of Nazi and Jap tyrants.

It asks you to urge your husband to join the Payroll Savings Plan—the easy way to buy War Bonds that will furnish the ships and guns and tanks and planes so desperately needed to guard you and yours from the horrors of defeat.

Or, if your husband is already buying War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—it asks you to urge him to buy more, to increase his savings to at least ten per cent of his salary or wages.

Remember. Millions of your brothers, husbands, sons, friends are risking everything. You are asked to risk nothing. War Bonds are the World's Safest Investment.

As you buy them through the Payroll Savings Plan—today, you are doing your part to help protect your child today! And at the same time setting up a savings fund to help bring up, educate, and develop that child—tomorrow.

Talk it over with your husband tonight. And resolve to put at least ten per cent—not 6%, or 7%, or 8%—into War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. Do it for that child of yours. Isn't he worth it?

* * * *

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO

If you are . . .

1. Already setting aside 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—boost that 10% if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman or plant manager—and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank or wherever bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

'UNIVERSALLY POPULAR

The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

Dearest Mamma,

At last I got that furlough. I left here last Sunday night and came back last night. . . We spent most of the time in London and Exeter. We went to Dover one day and saw the "white cliffs of Dover" and spent the night in a hotel at Folkestone. We saw several shows, went to see London Bridge, and the Towers of London. We went to a round table discussion in the Rainbow Red Cross Club in London. Captain Randolph Churchill, a commando captain and member of Parliament (son of Prime Minister Churchill) and Mr. Lyttleton, British Minister of Production, and several other high officials, whose name I forget, discussed some questions on current events. It was very interesting. They had good answers for any question anybody could ask.

I went to church this morning. We have services in the recreation hall here in camp now instead of the English Church we've been going to since we've been here.

When I got back last night there were eleven letters for me. . . .

Urge Farmers To Cut Pulp in Off-Season

191,313 farmers and workers engaged in agricultural occupations throughout Virginia are being urged by Frank A. Cavedo, State Manpower Director, to give all the time they can spare in the agricultural off-season to pulpwood cutting, lumbering, and other war-useful operations, according to Ralph M. Turner, manager of the Lynchburg U. S. Employment Service Office.

Two changes in manpower control procedures have been announced by the WMC which will make it easier for farm workers to effect such transfers.

1. Farm workers may transfer to such employment for periods up to six weeks without obtaining a statement of availability, but only in accordance with arrangements with the United States Employment Service. Workers who must leave their community for such work must secure a release from the U. S. Employment Service.

2. Farmers and farm laborers of military ages, 19 to 44 years inclusive, must still obtain approval from their local Selective Service Boards. But under instructions sent to local boards, such an off-season transfer will be readily approved for periods up to four months. During such periods, registrants will, of course, be continued in their deferred classification under the Tydings Amendment.

Both groups, however, those of military age and those beyond it, are expected to return to agricultural employment at the termination of the off-season, or at any other time the need for them arises in agriculture.

Mr. Turner said critical shortages in logging and saw-mill products make it imperative that workers be recruited for these industries immediately, and that off-season farm workers constitute the major available source of supply.

Logging and saw-mill products are vitally necessary to the war effort and it is hoped that farmers all over the state will respond to this urgent need and devote their off-season time to these industries.

REQUESTS FOR PENICILLIN

The War Department never has controlled penicillin nor received the entire output, Surgeon General Norman T. Kirk, of the Army Medical Department, explained recently. A civilian request for penicillin, the new drug which prevents growth of infection bacteria, should be made through the civilian's doctor. The doctor should communicate by telegram, telephone, or personal letter with Dr. Chester S. Keefer, Evans Memorial Hospital, Boston, giving complete details of the case.

SAVE JARS FOR '44 CANNING

Home canners are urged to save all glass jars and tops suitable for re-use. They will be needed to round out new supplies next summer, the Department of Agriculture says. Many commercial jars,- those containing coffee, pickles, peanut butter, and mayonnaise- are now standardized as to size and type of opening, so that a jar and its metal screw top may be used for home canning by buying only a metal sealing disk with flowed-on rubber compound.

Rescuer and Rescued

The youth, Richard Rasmussen, now in the navy, congratulates his rescuer after Hennig had received a medal from the Carnegie Hero Fund commission.

PAMPLIN MERCHANT DIED MONDAY

Funeral services for Richard Stanley Baldwin, 43, were conducted on Tuesday afternoon at his home in Pamplin. Rev. W. M. Black, Rev. J. G. Thompson and Rev. J. Russell Andrews officiated. Interment was in the Pamplin Cemetery.

Mr. Baldwin died suddenly Monday. He was born December 17, 1899, in Pamplin, the son of Richard D. Baldwin and Mollie Davis Baldwin. He was a veteran of the last World War, a member of the Masonic Lodge at Pamplin, and a Shriner. He was a successful merchant at Pamplin and was active in all phases of community life.

Dark Tobacco Markets Open December 6th

Dark tobacco markets will open on Monday, December 6, for two weeks of selling before the Christmas holidays. Sales are held on the first four days of each week.

There is little doubt that tobacco will bring a good price this year, as the volume of leaf in this section is not large. Joel Watkins, Jr., who chairman from Farmville, was here last week and stated that he expected a good demand for what quantity of dark tobacco that is to be available. He said that a full corps of buyers was expected to follow the sales.

The opening of tobacco markets has lost some of its glamour of bygone days, but despite crop diversification and the opening of many other sources of farm income, this is still a great tobacco section and it is to be hoped that farmers will receive prices for their leaf offerings.

Court Met Here Yesterday

Only one indictment was returned by the grand jury here yesterday morning as the December term of the circuit court of Appomatox County convened. In the one case tried, that of the Commonwealth against Lawrence Daniel, on an indictment for felonious shooting, the court gave sentence of two years in the state pen.

The court will convene again on December 15 to hear a civil matter growing out of a will.

Milk Survey Being Made

A survey is being conducted in Appomattox County to determine the number and location of cattle in the county. A questionnaire was mailed out this week by the county office of the Extension Division and farmers were asked to furnish data upon which it might be determined if Appomatox County could support a manufactured milk market.

A milk-cow survey is necessary to work up the information required to form the basis of deciding if it would be practicable to establish a whole milk receiving station here.

The county extension office hopes that farmers will fill out and return the questionnaire promptly.
